

White Queen

You're so vain you can't feel the groove you're so mad it's understood as all the things just seem to pass you by

From the top of the castle to the shore of the sea you can't advise what you can't see as you declare the customs of your mind

So love, come out and heal our nation's pride with minds numb we can, get by as I spot the courts band can't help myself and shout

Left in the dark no one could see fell from a ledge officially there's no room for a white queen on the throne

So love, come for the face that you love the boys can't understand why, black pie,
if they only knew, I could never fly
